George C. Lindsay
Features Stonefort
Corp. Mine in Article

I WENT TO SCHOOL both at Eldorado and Champaign with George C. Lindsay, who received his degree in Commerce at the University of Illinois. After his graduation he worked for a while at Dering mine, where his father was superintendent.

We used to call him "Gus" and I forget the reason why. But anyway, he and his family now live near Washington, D. C., where he is editor of Mechanization, a magazine about coal.

I saw him one day late in the summer out on Route 45 south of Harrisburg. Hadn't seen him in years but he went around me as we both were going southward. I recognized the face and hurried up and stopped him. There I learned that he was headed for the Stonefort Corporation's big Will Scarlet strip mine between Carrier Mills and Stonefort to get an article for his magazine.

Saturday I got a copy of the January issue of Mechanization, which carries an article about the Stonefort Corp. mine entitled "Something New in Stripping."

The Stonefort Corporation, having applied new equipment and methods in combination at its southern Illinois Will Scarlet strip mine, has achieved high productivity rates and mine-plant flexibility," the article sums up. "A specially designed shovel that strips two seams with a single pass of the shovel, a combination belt-truck haulage system, and a novel stockpiling system do the job."

The article occupied eight full pages of the magazine, which means that it is quite comprehensive. There are 15 photographs of the activity there, two sketches and two tables.

Lindsay brings out that the property consists of 3,000 acres of stripable land in Williamson and Saline, that mineable coal on the acreage is estimated to be 20 million tons, or sufficient to last a minimum of 25 years at a proposed annual output rate of 700,000 tons.

After describing the special stripping equipment, the combination belt-truck haulage system and the innovation of providing for a 5,000-ton stockpile on an area adjacent to the washery, Lindsay delves into the management of the operation.

The corporation is headed by R. G. Sherwood, chairman of the board, and his son, S. F. Sherwood, company president. Main offices are in Indianapolis. At Will Scarlet, W. W. Dukes is mine superintendent.

Then Lindsay goes into detail regarding the following phases of operation: Overburden preparation, two-seam stripping, loading, the crews, power, pit haulage, the belt haulage system, the storage facilities and preparation facilities.

Death Takes Mrs.
J. S. Hollingsworth
At Daughter's Home

Mrs. Nora Kuma Hollingsworth, 73, died today at 7 a. m. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Celia Dabney, RFD 1, Harrisburg.

She was the wife of the late J. S. Hollingsworth who passed away March 10, 1943. Mrs. Hollingsworth was born in Ridgway Aug. 18, 1881, to Tilford and Julia Bozarth.

Since the death of Mr. Hollingsworth she had made her home with Mrs. Dabney, being in poor health for the past 12 years and bedfast for the last week.

Besides Mrs. Dabney she leaves two other children: Finis Harrelson of North Hollywood, Calif., and Genevieve Roehr, Bradenton, Fla.; 12 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; a brother, D. B. Bozarth of West Frankfort, and two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Dangerfield, Harris, and Mrs. Elza Zachary, Arlington, Va.

She was a member of the North America Baptist church.

The body at present is lying in state at the Harrisburg funeral home.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Proposes 3-Year Program for New Buildings

Special Message
Asks Aid in Grants
And Loan Guarantees

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower asked Congress today to authorize $1,120,000,000 in federal grants and loan guarantees to aid the states in carrying out a $7,000,000,000 school construction program during the next three years.

In a special message to Congress, he said the program is urgently needed "to give our school children as quickly as possible the class rooms they must have."

The President proposed his three-year building program as an "emergency" measure to relieve a class room shortage estimated by federal officials at 340,000 rooms.

"Fundamentally, the remedy lies with the states and their communities," he said. "But the present shortage of class rooms requires immediate and effective action that will produce more rapid results."

Several Kinds of Aid

Here are the various kinds of federal aid that the President recommended:

1. An authorization by Congress for an appropriation of 750 million dollars to purchase school bonds issued by local communities. This proposal would apply to communities which are "handicapped in selling bonds at a reasonable interest rate." The White House said its definition of "a reasonable interest rate" would be anything over 3 1/2 per cent.
2. A federal appropriation of 150 million dollars to match funds put up by individual states to set up school building agencies. These agencies would undertake to build 6 billion dollars worth of schools during the next three years, covering the cost with bonds and using the 500 million dollars combined federal-state appropriations to pay the first year's principal and interest.
3. Authorization of an appropriation of 200 million dollars in federal grants-in-aid during the next three years to school districts economically unable to participate in the bonds programs supported by the federal government.
4. Appropriation of 5 million dollars immediately as part of a three-year total of 20 million dollars to finance long-term planning by the federal government and the states to correct problems confronting public education and particularly, obstacles to local financing and the establishment of more efficient school districts.

Repeatedly in his message, the President pointed out the dangers of too much federal control of education.

The President's message was forwarded to Congress a week ahead of his original schedule. Some administration leaders contend that the move was intended to head off a drive by Senate Democrats who have been pushing an aid bill of their own.

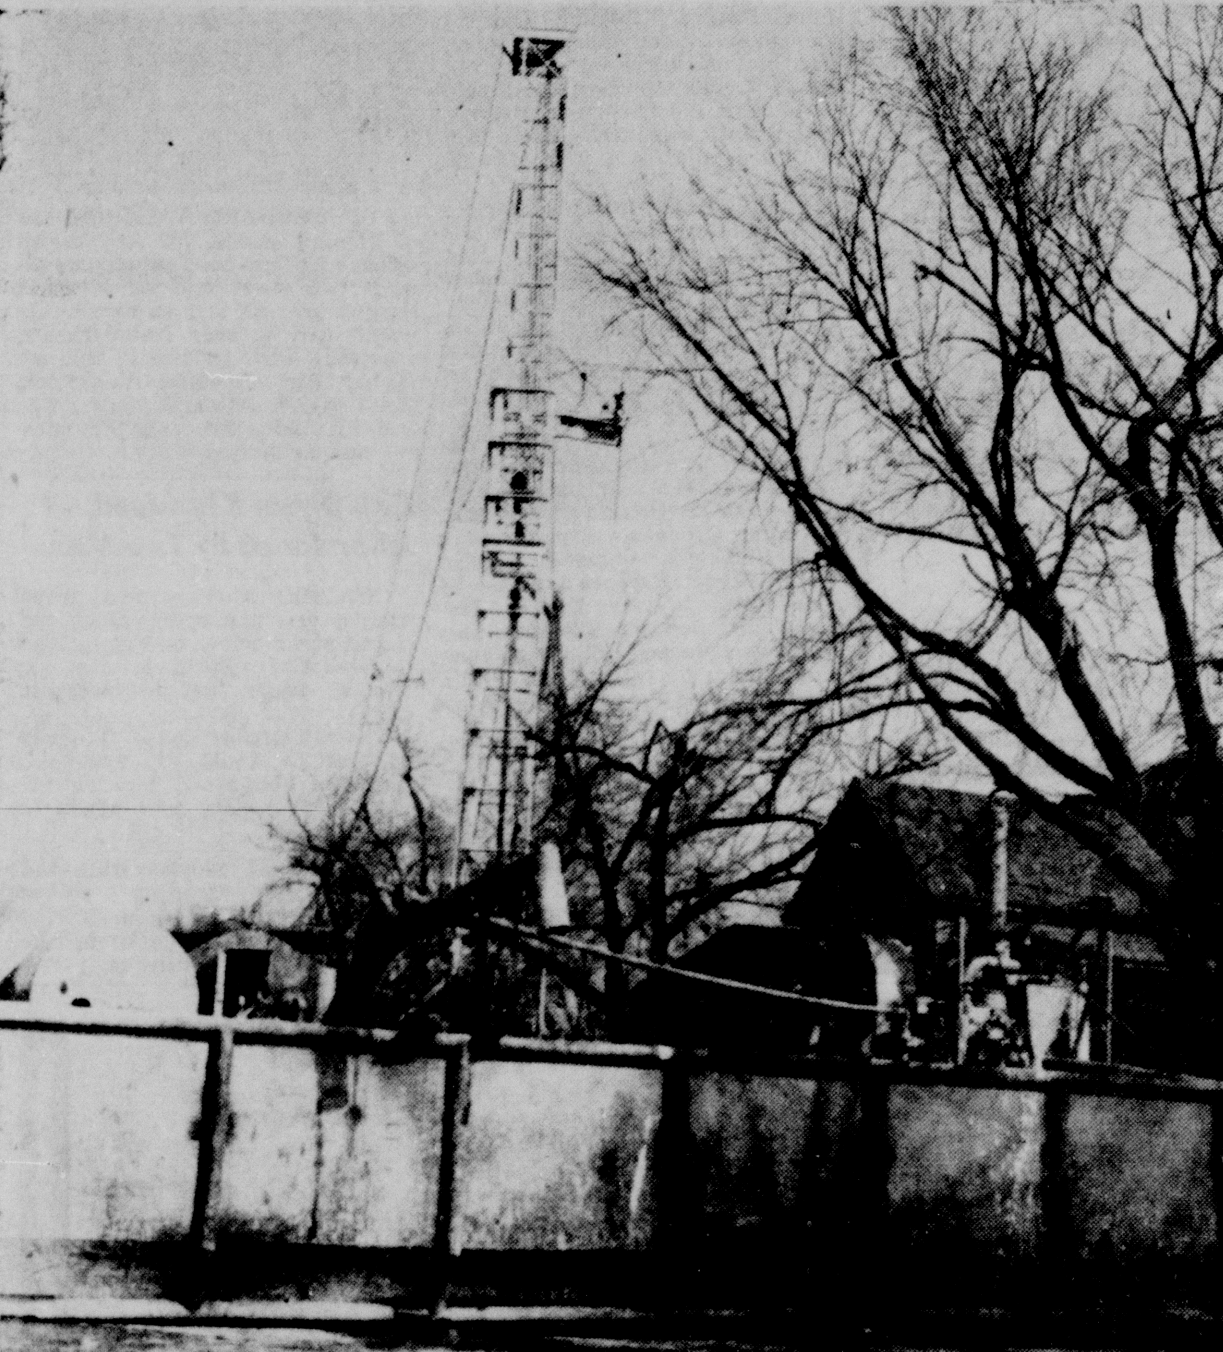

The Senate Labor Committee, headed by Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala.) and controlled by Democrats, has completed a three-day series of hearings on bills which would authorize up to 500-million dollars in federal grants annually to assist the states in school construction.

County Soil Conservation District's Annual Meeting Feb. 22 with Kiwanis

The annual meeting of the Saline County Soil Conservation district will be held at the Masonic temple in Harrisburg on the night of Tuesday, Feb. 22, beginning at 6:30, according to an announcement by Alva A. Gholson, president of the Saline district.

This year's meeting will be held in conjunction with the Harrisburg Kiwanis club at the time of its regular weekly dinner meeting. It is a similar arrangement to last year's meeting when the Lions club of Carrier Mills combined its weekly meeting with the District's annual meeting.

Mr. Gholson says an interesting program has been planned for the meeting which will start with group singing led by Kiwanian Bob Burnett. Invocation will be given by Rev. W. L. Cummins in advance of the dinner which will be served in the basement of the Masonic temple. Following the dinner, reports of the activities of the district for 1954 will be heard, two members will be elected to the

THEY MOVED A PORTABLE RIG AND PORTABLE SLUSH PIT in on Jess Simons at Eldorado and Mr. Simons and his wife moved out. Above shows a brand new type of oil well drilling in Saline county, the portable outfit on wheels that last week started operations in the small back yard at the Jess Simons place, Walnut and Marshall streets, Eldorado. The back yard where the hole is being drilled is about 40 by 50 feet, with the operations extending out into Marshall street, which is blocked. In foreground is the portable slush pit, which has to be cleaned out periodically, the slush being dumped in fields. Proximity of the rig to the house can be seen in the background. The job is being done for Inland Producers of Evansville by the T and H Corporation of Terre Haute, which is drilling down to the McClosky. The bit had gone down 435 feet at 2 p. m. yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Simons bought a place on Pine street, adjacent to the Ferrell hospital, but reports are that a test well go down about 30 feet from their new property line within six months. University of Illinois Requests
$114.6 Million Budget for 1955-57

Commission Hears
Demands Before
Decision on Taxes

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Budget planners were biding their time in the face of mounting demands on the state Treasury today pending a decision on whether to hike Illinois taxes.

Latest to come before the Illinois Budgetary Commission seeking more appropriations for 1955-57 was the University of Illinois, which presented a $114,685,000 request Monday.

The university seeks $18,752,342 more for operating expenses than it got for 1953-55 and a $14,859,000 boost in capital improvements.

Sen. Everett R. Peters, chairman of the Budgetary Commission, told reporters afterward no decision could be made as yet on the U. of I. request or those of other big agencies.

"We can't act on this request until we know what the state revenue is going to be," the St. Joseph Republican said.

Peters said the commission next planned to get information on what other big groups like the Public

Pinball Gambling
In Marion, Scout
Advises Council

MARION, Ill. (AP)—Three pinball machine operators accused by a Boy Scout of permitting gambling with the machines pleaded guilty today and paid fines and costs totaling $35.20 each.

Warrants were issued against Albert Jones, a pool hall operator; Bunice Tyner, a restaurant owner; and J. P. Smothers, operator of a bus stop confectionery by Justice of the Peace Charles Gilley after Police Chief Charles Edwards filed informations against them.

A Boy Scout startled a City Council meeting Monday night when he said at least three pinball machine operators used the devices for gambling among Marion teenagers.

The three pleaded guilty in Gilley's court after a conference among themselves and with Police Commissioner E. E. Weber and Edwards.

They were charged with violating a city ordinance which makes it illegal to keep an "apparatus for the purpose of playing a game or sport for money or other valuable thing." The ordinance provides a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $200 upon conviction.

Several Scouts told Mayor William Shannon and the city commissioners in a post-council meeting they had won money on the machines which indicate only free games won by making a certain score. They were paid a nickel for each free game won.

Graveside services were held today at 2 p. m. at the Raleigh Masonic cemetery for Ruth Ann Rockwell, stillborn daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glendall Rockwell of Raleigh. The baby was born today at 4:30 a. m. in the Ferrell hospital.

The infant was the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lendall Rockwell of Raleigh and of Mrs. Mable Price of Harrisburg and the great-granddaughter of Charley Rockwell, also of Raleigh.

Rev. Howard Todd Taylor officiated, and the Martin funeral home was in charge.

U. S. Officials Adopt 'Wait and See' Attitude

Eisenhower and Leaders Discuss
Russian Shakeup

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Republican congressional leaders took a wait-and-see attitude today toward the switch of Soviet premiers.

They discussed the Russian shakeup at length at their weekly legislative conference at the White House.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland told newsmen the consensus was: "It is too early to know just what the significance is—it may take some little time before we know."

The State Department withheld official comment on the resignation of Georgi Malenkov and his replacement by Marshal Nikolai Bulganin. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen reported the shakeup to the department in a message from Moscow but did not immediately offer any interpretation of it.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the White House is getting some information from the State Department about the shakeup.

Dulles Believed Calm

There were indications that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and his staff experts are taking a calm, though interested, view of the change in premiers. Dulles has said in the past that whatever surface ripples occur, the basic attitude of Soviet rulers is hostility toward the West.

Some U. S. officials professed privately to view the switch as indicative of two things: 1—Internal production troubles and 2—the effectiveness of Western diplomatic maneuvers.

"If you have men and policies that are working, you don't change them," one official said.

Some diplomatic officials were relieved that the shakeup did not result in emergency of a powerful one-man government on the lines of the old Stalinist dictatorship. If that had happened, they would have interpreted it as foreshadowing a get-tougher attitude toward the West.

Senate Group
OK's Formosa
Defense Treaty

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today approved, 11-2, a mutual defense treaty pledging the United States to protect Formosa and its nearby Pescadores Islands from threatened Chinese Communist invasion.

The committee action pointed to early Senate ratification of the treaty.

The senators rejected an attempt by Sens. Wayne Morse (Ind.-Ore.) and William Langer (R.N.D.) to knock out a provision of the pact which they feared might commit this country to defend other Chinese Nationalist-held territory than Formosa and the Pescadores.

Morse and Langer then voted against approval of the treaty.

Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) said he hoped to begin Senate debate on the pact Wednesday. George said his goal was to complete action by late Thursday, but he would not predict whether it could be done.

Diplomatic officials meanwhile stood firm against any so-called Geneva-type international conference on the Formosa crisis, particularly one outside the United Nations.

That was their reaction to an announcement by the French Foreign Ministry in Paris that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had proposed an international conference on Formosa.

Vote Today On HTHS Tax Rate

The Harrisburg Township high school district today was voting on the proposition to increase the rate limit from 50 to 71 cents.

Voting started at noon at the Harrisburg city hall and was to continue until 7 p. m.

Last night a last-minute, unsigned handbill was placed in circulation urging the public to vote down the proposition.

Truman Sees Shakeup
As Possibility
For Improvement

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Former President Truman viewed today's shakeup in the Soviet government as a possibility "for improvement."

"Things can't get any worse in Russia," Mr. Truman said, "and I am hopeful that this will result in an improvement."

Evacuation of North Tachen
Isle Completed

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The evacuation of Chinese civilians from the tense, invasion-threatened North Tachen Island was completed today without incident.

Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, commander of the U. S. 7th Fleet which is protecting the evacuation from possible Communist attack, announced the successful completion of that phase of the operations.

A Nationalist Defense Ministry communique said the evacuation of the Chinese garrisons from the Tachens also has begun and "is progressing satisfactorily."

The first troops were removed, the communique said, "under joint Chinese and American naval and air cover."

Pride said the last civilians were removed from the beach by boats of several U. S. Navy and Chinese Nationalist ships at 5:17 p. m. Tuesday (4:17 a. m. CST).

Pride said the evacuation of civilians from South Tachen would continue throughout the night.

"Progress of the operation has been satisfactory thus far," he said.

Thousands on Beaches

Thousands of civilians had streamed aboard the "lift" transports which will carry them to Formosa by sundown and thousands more waited on the beaches of South Tachen.

The first civilians to be embarked in an American ship boarded the attack transport USS Henrico this morning. The Henrico was one of many attack transports which moved in close to the China mainland for the operation.

The 7th fleet, its guns at the ready, its planes filling the skies overhead, reported Communist boats, mines and torpedo boats 30 to 35 miles north of Tachen, but a briefing officer emphasized they had made no unfriendly moves.

Peiping Radio threatened and blustered but there was every indication Red China had grounded its Soviet-built MIG-15 jets in the face of the overwhelming American naval might.

American pilots were under orders not to fly over Communist area or provoke trouble, but they also were under orders to shoot back and chase any Red attackers back to the mainland.

Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, 7th fleet commander, reported bursts of anti-aircraft fire were observed Monday over Red islands and said, "I estimate the Communists thought our aircraft were coming too close. There were no hits."

Pride said the Americans had been instructed not to fly over Communist territory and to avoid "provocative action."

Munich, Germany: The Central Committee of the Soviet emigrants organization said "the policy of co-existence is dead." The committee predicted a return to Stalinism and a toughened attitude toward the West.

Rome: Italian democratic political leaders speculated that the fall of Malenkov and the Soviet policy of guns before butter would mean trouble for the West.

Taipei, Formosa: Nationalist Chinese spokesmen said unofficially they thought Russia would return to a tough and more aggressive policy aimed at world domination.

Paris: France, absorbed with her own government crisis, expressed surprise and uncertainty.

Vatican City: Vatican sources said "any differences between Soviet leaders is always a welcome sign."

Premier Admits Mishandling of Soviet Affairs

Bristling Speech
By Molotov Indicates
Tough Russian Policy

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Georgi Malenkov resigned today in a dramatic confession of "guilt" for mishandling Soviet affairs and was replaced by Marshal Nikolai Bulganin.

Then, speaking before the same Supreme Soviet (parliament) that unanimously approved the shift in leadership, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov bitterly attacked the West and the "insane notions" of the United States.

The speech appeared to signal a tough new Russian policy toward the West.

"The foreign policies of the imperialists and of the United States above all are aggressive and are leading to a third world war," Molotov said.

He charged that the United States nourishes "insane notions" of reclaiming Communist countries for capitalism.

Friend of Bulganin

The speech by Molotov was significant for the additional reason that he is a long-time friend of the new premier and regarded one of Bulganin's strongest backers.

Molotov's bristling speech appeared to confirm predictions in many foreign capitals that the toppling of Malenkov from power signalled the end of the "softer" policy and reforms which Malenkov had ordered following the death of the late Joseph Stalin.

The announcement of Bulganin's selection as new premier of the Soviet Union was made to the Supreme Soviet only a few hours earlier by Nikita Khrushchev, head of the Soviet Communist Party and considered by many observers to be the most powerful man in Russia today.

Bulganin assumed the highest post in the Soviet Union amid pledges he would return Russia to a policy of emphasis on heavy industry and agricultural development.

Malenkov, in assuming Stalin's mantle, had scrapped those phases of Stalin's policy in favor of stepped-up consumer goods production and a generally "softer" policy than Stalin had imposed.

Short and Sweet

The dramatic and unexpected resignation came in a four-minute morning session of both houses of the Supreme Soviet.

Bulganin's election as his successor, which was almost equally surprising to diplomatic observers, was approved within five minutes of the opening of the afternoon session.

Nikita Khrushchev, head of the Communist Party, who announced that Bulganin would be the new premier, told the Supreme Soviet: "We are confident that the government headed by comrade Nikolai Bulganin will insure the development of heavy industry and at the same time light industry, food production and agriculture to an extent that will raise the standard of living of the Soviet people."

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov or Khrushchev had been considered the most likely successor to Malenkov.

In spite of his resignation, Malenkov was expected to remain in the government. His statement of

Intercontinental Warfare

Editorial — By BRUCE BOSSAT
When France dug in behind the costly Maginot line after World War I, it was common for forward-looking military men to say the French were "preparing to fight the last war again." France's bitter defeat in World War II seemed to confirm this judgment, and free peoples have tried to learn a hard lesson from that experience.

The lesson is that we must not be shackled by outmoded weapons and materials and strategies as we plan for our safety in the face of hostile forces. The pace of technological advance today is terrific. We must stay abreast of it in the military field particularly, if we want to hold our freedom secure.

Our leaders know this. And while we are still planning specifically for a possible war in which nuclear explosives would be delivered by piloted aircraft, we are actually developing weapons for an even more frightening phase of warfare—the age of intercontinental missiles.

American defense authorities tell us they have reached the "pay-off stage" in putting together a guided missile that will be able to sweep 5000 miles across the globe speeds up to an incredible 9000 miles per hour.

This means that such a weapon launched from a site near our eastern seaboard could in little more than half an hour strike deep into eastern Germany. Missiles launched westward from Hawaii could seek out targets on the huge China mainland.

One of the most amazing features of this rocket, which would of course be fitted with an atomic warhead, is its potential accuracy. Our experts are aiming at a weapon which will strike within a 20-mile-wide circle after a 5000-mile trip through the stratosphere. Presumably our experimental missiles are not yet that accurate, and they will not be tested on any important scale until they approach that goal. When that time arrives—and even informed guesses about it are rated military secrets—we will have to begin seriously reshaping both our offensive and defensive strategies.

Indeed, it is not too early now to start thinking about the kind of warning systems and defensive weapons we shall need when intercontinental missiles become a major part of not only our arsenal but Russia's as well.

There can no longer be comfort for us in mere numerical superiority, whether it be in "conventional" nuclear weapons or the new guided missiles. Our future safety may depend on the quality and ingenuity of the weapons we devise. As our experts put it, we must stay one jump ahead of our enemy.

That one jump could be the margin of freedom.

"Don't Worry---I'm Right Behind You"

DREW PEARSON Says:
"Veep's Secretary Forgets He Isn't 'Veep' Any More; Marines Have No Complaint."

WASHINGTON — Kentucky's Alben Barkley, the venerable "Veep," has no trouble remembering he's only a freshman senator now. But his secretary, Flo Bratten, sometimes forgets and answers the phone: "The vice president's office."

When she made this mistake the other day, a puzzled voice asked: "Whose office?"

The vice president's office, she repeated absently. Then, suddenly remembering, she corrected herself: "Excuse me, I mean Senator Barkley's office."

"Thank goodness," replied a relieved voice. "This is Adlai Stevenson."

WASHINGTON WHIRL

Now that private companies have been authorized to develop atomic power, they are offering such attractive salaries to atomic experts that they are luring some of the best brains out of government service. The Joint Congressional Atomic Energy committee is worried this will set back our atomic arms program.

Atomic Energy Chairman Admiral Lewis Strauss has been boasting that he got ex-Chairman Gordon Dean his plush job with Lehman Brothers. (Actually, the job was strictly Lehman Brothers' idea.)

Speaker Sam Rayburn takes a five-block constitutional around Capitol Plaza every day after the House adjourns, frequently accompanied by Congressman Wright Patman of Texas. "People who work indoors should get out as often as possible for some fresh air," says the Speaker, perhaps thinking of the hot air he endures on the House floor.

Following his appearance on a recent television quiz show, Congressman James P. Richards of South Carolina, chairman of the Foreign Affairs committee, received this note from a down-home admirer: "You made a good showing for a country boy, but I've seen you do better with a chaw of tobacco in your jaw." Richards wrote back: "No spittoons in the studio."

Statuesque ex-Senator Gillette of Iowa has hinted that he would like to come back to the Senate as chief counsel for the committee investigating the loyalty-security program. Senator Carlson of Kansas, President Eisenhower's closest friend in the Senate, has been telling friends that he definitely will run for a second term. (Mamie doesn't agree.)

Indicative of the close partnership between Canada and the U. S. A., the U. S. Army Engineers are secretly mapping Canada's coasts and collecting detailed geographical information — in case it should ever become necessary for the United States to help defend Canada.

A survey of Canada by U. S. Army men would have stirred up a hornet's nest a few years ago.

HALLS OF MONTEZUMA
The House Armed Services committee had listened wearily to Defense Secretary Charles Wilson and the Pentagon's top brass relate how re-enlistments had fallen off in the Air Force, Army and Navy. One after another the military chiefs bemoaned the morale factors that were hindering re-enlistment — low pay, inadequate housing, etc.

Finally General Lemuel C. Shepherd, commandant of the Marine Corps, took the stand. Testified Shepherd: "I'm glad to inform the committee that the Marines are in excellent shape. In fact, we have no re-enlistment problem at all to speak of. Three out of every four Marines are re-enlisting after finishing their terms of service. No, we in the Marines have no complaint. We can live with what we have."

However, it was a wonderful dinner." Engle, who is chairman of the House Interior committee, believes there's an excellent chance of passing both Hawaiian and Alaskan statehood this year. He isn't going to hold extensive hearings. "People are quite familiar with the situation," he says, "as a result of previous hearings."

'Shop Talks' at Rotary Meeting

Rotarians heard "shop talks" presented by Vic Mitchell and H. E. Mitchell Jr. yesterday during the program section of their noon luncheon hour.

Vic Mitchell, veteran Harrisburg service station operator, told of the changes down through the years in his business and gave some humorous sidelights. He also discussed briefly the changing methods of operation and improvements made.

H. E. Mitchell Jr. sketched hurriedly for the group the construction business in which he is associated with his father. Mitchell stated that structural construction is mainly of three major types—public buildings, commercial buildings and private residences.

After enlarging on these types, he also discussed the methods whereby construction firms learn of building projects and the estimating process wherein they place bids in an effort to obtain the jobs.

During the short business session, Don Scott reported on the favorable acceptance by other civic organizations of a move initiated in Rotary to divorce politics from park board membership. Scott stated that leaders of both major political parties had been contacted and were agreeable to a plan to place township park board membership on a non-political basis.

Upon a motion by Scott, the organization voted to have the Rotary president call heads of other civic organizations together to set up the necessary details for accomplishing such a move.

When a person doesn't like the way the country is going, he can either get out and vote or get out.

High School Honor Roll

A total of 106 students were on the honor roll for the third six weeks period at the Harrisburg Township high school. Of this number 78 were girls and 28 boys. The honor roll was topped by Kendall McDonald, a freshman whose average was 98.

Guests at the Rotary Club will be Ruth Steinmarch, James Gates, Marcia Pierson, Mary Matthews and Doris Steinmarch.

Averaging 96 to 97 were Charles Polk, James Gates, Doris Steinmarch, Judy Morse, Bill Bottomley, Anne Endsley, Michal Foster, Fred Lamkin, and Avah Phillips.

Molotov Claims Russia is No. One H-Bomb Power

MOSCOW (U.P.) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov said today
Russia is the world's No. 1 hydrogen bomb power.

Molotov also charged in a bristling foreign policy speech that "insane notions" of the United States are "leading toward a third world war."

"The Soviet Union now is so strong in this hydrogen bomb that one can speak of the backwardness of the U. S., and not of the U. S. S. R.," the foreign minister said.

Molotov did not discuss numbers of H-bombs, or say specifically that the Soviet Union had more of the bombs than the United States.

But he did assure the parliament that the United States holds no advantages over the Soviet Union in the power to wage war.

Chapter Z, P.E.O., Observes Founders Day With Luncheon At John R. Jackson Home

Founders Day was observed on Friday by members of Chapter Z, P.E.O., at the new home of Mrs. John R. Jackson Jr. with a twelve o'clock luncheon. Honoring charter members and past presidents of the local chapter was also significant of the occasion.

The subject of a previous program had been "The Art of Ceremony," and Mrs. Carl Rude and her committee served a delicious example of culinary art to nineteen regular attendees and several carreer girl members who were able to be present for the luncheon.

Mrs. Lloyd L. Parker, president, conducted the business session, and Mrs. R. L. Metcalf, program chairman, presented Mrs. B. G. Funkhouser who gave a glowing, loving tribute to each of the seven founders. As each was recalled, Mrs.
C. E. Taylor lighted a white taper in the candelabra, the base of which was footed with marguerites,
and which rested upon a linen covered table. Soft background music was played by Mrs. E. M. Travel-stead at the piano.

In a tribute to the eleven charter members of Chapter Z, Mrs.
C. E. Combe read from the first secretary's book, the minutes of the organization meeting which was held at the home of the late Mrs. C. A. Taylor, mother of Mrs.
B. E. Montgomery. Mrs. Combe related the early work of the chapter and exemplified each charter member with accounts of their charm and talents.

Mrs. Combe paid additional tribute to past presidents of Chapter Z, as Mrs. Phil Durham assisted in presenting each with a gavel guard attached to a marguerite. Mrs. Ray Durham made the presentation to Mrs. Combe, who is also a past state president.
The impressiveness of the ceremonies was heightened by the singing of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

Cokes were served by the hostesses as members lingered to visit and enjoy Mrs. Jackson's new home, and to view a display of early P.E.O. programs, history books and pictures.

The next regular meeting will be held on Feb. 11 at the home of Mrs. John W. Towle.

Miss Marie Frailey, who operates a beauty shop in this city, will take a vacation next week, going with an Evansville friend, Mrs.
Neil Turner, to New Orleans to remain until the 21st.

The condition of John B. Lee, Harrisburg bank official, was reported as critical today. Mr. Lee underwent surgery Friday at Welborn Memorial hospital, Evansville, following previous surgery at Gulfport, Miss., where he was stricken while vacationing.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly In Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk?
Just sprinkle a little PASTETITE on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTETITE today at any drug counter.

SPRINGFIELD — The Stratton administration today proposed laws empowering the state to step in and prosecute lawbreakers in Illinois counties where law enforcement is lax.

Senate Majority Whip George E.
Drach said he would introduce four bills later today to give the governor and the Illinois attorney general authority to act where state attorneys fail to do their duty.

His bills, requested by Gov. William G. Stratton, would authorize the attorney general to investigate and prosecute on a county level—if the governor requested him to do so in writing.

A judge would be required to impanel a grand jury at the attorney general's request. Then the attorney general could present evidence, get indictments, and prosecute—"with or without the acquiescence, assistance or presence" in the state's attorney.

One of Drach's bills would appropriate $300,000 to Atty. Gen.
Latham Castle to carry out the new duties in the next two years.
Drach predicted, however, that the powers would be "rarely used."

Amnesia Victim Is Reunited with Wife, Children

PALMYRA, N. J. (UP)—An amnesia victim spending his first night with his family that he had not seen for a year said today his wife and three children seemed only vaguely familiar to him.

The victim, Jay Reilley, said he was disappointed in his hope that a reunion with his family would "ring a bell and clear my mind." Reilley's two daughters, Tina, 3, and Susan, 2, were in bed when he arrived home. His son, Michael, 7, was in the care of a neighbor but returned home shortly after his father and rushed into his arms shouting, "Daddy, Daddy, you're home."

He collapsed after the reunion with his wife, Margaret, but regained his composure in a few minutes.

Reilley lost his memory while on a business trip to Harrisburg, Pa., in his father's car. He was employed as a salesman at the time. Reilley, 41, abandoned the car and disappeared without a trace. Subsequently he turned up in Los Angeles with no memory of who he was or how he got there.

He learned his name and was informed that he had a wife and three young children after he appeared two weeks ago on the "Help Thy Neighbor" television show. He was recognized by Mrs. Katherine Ellis of Whittier, Calif., who went to school with him in Norristown, Pa. Mrs. Ellis notified program officials and they contacted Reilley's father.

"Now I'm anxious to make up to my family the year I was away," Reilley said today.

Just before Reilley was reunited with his family a spokesman said he had learned that Reilley's wife wanted him back "more than anything in the world." She had not heard from him since he disappeared.

About 65 per cent of the 1,000 employees at a U. S. Army Ordnance rebuild shop at Boeblingen, Germany, are refugees from countries now behind the Iron Curtain.

Whence the Term

Deer antlers are shed each year. During growth, the horn is said to be "green," and is of no value as a weapon. Hence, a greenhorn is a raw, inexperienced person not capable of shifting for himself.

U. S. Electricity

The United States produces 44.4 per cent of the world's electricity, having a production five and one-half times that of the nation ranking second.

Dirksen Continues Tour After Meeting With State Officials

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Sen. Everett M. Dirksen today carried his political fence-mending tour to Peoria and Walnut after conferring with state officials here Monday.

Dirksen lunched with Gov. William C. Stratton and other elected state officers at the Lake Springfield home of State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

Those present included Hodge, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, Atty. Gen. Latham Castle, Superintendent of Public Instruction Vernon L. Nickell, Treasurer Warren E. Wright and Supreme Court Clerk Earle B. Searcy. All are Republicans.

While neither Dirksen nor any of the state officers have announced candidacy for the 1956 election, one source at the lunch meeting said it looked like "the same team" would run for the GOP in 1956.

The terms of Dirksen, Stratton, Carpenter, Castle, Hodge, Wright and Searcy expire in 1956. All are eligible for re-election except Wright, who is barred by the Constitution from succeeding himself as state treasurer.

Surrenders After Kidnaping Girl Friend, Killing Man

PITTSBURGH (UP)—An unemployed roofer today told police he kidnaped his girl friend and killed a man who tried to stop him because he was crazy with love.

The roofer, Russell Winterbottom, 33, said he "went to pieces" after his trim sweetheart, Lorraine Rodgers, 20, told him last month they could be "only friends."

A witness said Winterbottom stormed into Miss Rodgers' hotel room Monday morning and shot down Walter W. Henry, 49. He then carried the screaming girl into his automobile and sped away.

Winterbottom surrendered to police at his home, 10 hours after the kidnaping and slaying.

"I was very much in love with her," he told officers. "I couldn't sleep at night. I'm crazy about that girl. I tried everything to get her back."

Miss Rodgers, clad in slacks and a zippered jacket, said she was not harmed during the hours Winterbottom drove through the area surrounding Pittsburgh, but she said she was a "little scared."

The blonde waitress was asked if she would stand by Rodgers. "You're asking me a question now that I can't answer. After all a man was killed."

The workshop was held at the New Shawneetown grade school with Miss Beulah Zanders, music director and assistant state superintendent of public instruction, Springfield, directing the morning session. The afternoon program was in charge of a Mr. Bealmer, art director.

The visitation day for high school teachers was set up to give each an opportunity to visit in the classrooms of some other southern Illinois high school for the day. Several were visiting high schools in Saline, White and Williamson counties today.

Where Pride Leads to Economy!

This gasoline station isn't accustomed to being ignored by the cars that pass its way. For it resides at the edge of a great desert—and it is many, many miles to the next fueling point.

But the big, handsome automobile you see here swept by without so much as a sign of recognition! For it is a new 1955 Cadillac—and its owner knows that he can travel from his morning's start until his evening's stop without a single refueling.

Of course, when a motorist decides to order his first Cadillac, he isn't usually aware that the car is so economical to operate—and so practical to own.

He wants a Cadillac for what it is and represents—and for the great pride and pleasure it will bring him.

But it isn't long before he discovers where his pride has led him!

He discovers it first when he prices the Cadillac of his choice. Invariably, he is surprised at its relatively modest cost. Not infrequently, he finds that it actually costs less than the car he is currently driving.

And then, once his Cadillac is delivered into his hands, he discovers how frugal it is with a gallon of gasoline. He finds, as we said, that a full tank is usually sufficient for a full day's drive.

Next, he learns of Cadillac's extraordinary dependability. In fact, he often has to be reminded when the time has come for routine service.

But not until he surrenders his Cadillac to its second owner does he discover the full wonder of Cadillac's economy. For then he learns how amazingly it holds its value—and how little a year's service affects the public's regard for the car.

All this is to say, of course, that you don't have to follow your pride to the "car of cars." You can, if you prefer, make your decision solely on the basis of economy—and still buy a Cadillac!

Come in soon—and see for yourself! We've got the facts—and we'll be delighted to see you at any time!

Emmitt Foster, who lives on Dennison street, reports his hens are laying bigger eggs. There were three big ones last week, then yesterday found one weighing four ounces that was seven inches around lengthwise and five and three-fourths inches in circumference the other way. He has White Legorns, White Rocks and Barred Rocks and doesn't know which hen laid the big egg.

Presently a swarthy man with a half apron appeared, carrying a pail and white cloths. Crotch began sponging the matted filth from Goss's head. When Crotch had finished cleaning the wound he found it to be nowhere as serious as he had at first feared. He tore the bedsheet the bartender had brought him into strips with which to bind Goss's head.

A murderous rage was all this while growing in him. He wanted only one thing—to find the man who had done this to Goss and finish him quickly. The edge of his glance picked up some stray movement of the marshal's hand beside him. He saw the man slide a pair of handcuffs from his belt, replace them gingerly as he read the anger in Crotch's stare.

"Let him alone," Crotch ground out stonily.

The lawman was a dark, somber man with cold eyes and a saber-slashed cheek that came from some long-forgotten cavalry skirmish.

"I'm not sure that one'll live." Behind the tables a man lay flat on the floor.

This was what remained of Duey, the engineer who had been at the boilers the night San Diego rammed them at Castle Dome. A quick recollection swept Crotch back to the time Duey had served his warrant at Ehrenberg, to the fierce punishment Duey had given him later in Maddix's courtroom. They must have put up a long, fierce fight.

The marshal said tonelessly, "I've got to do something about it. Can't have buckoes getting away with this sort of thing."

Crotch ignored him, marching back to Goss's side. The pattern was self-evident within his own mind; the scene of Jamison's reprisal, the setting of Duey against Goss's back. The mate was staring at Crotch now, a thin edge of reason returning to his look.

"Was a fool, Irv. A runted greenhorn—walk into his trap."

Crotch swung the lawman a close look. "Duey started the fight. He jumped Goss first!"

"So they tell me," the lawman admitted. "Jamison means to drive you back on some New England cranberry bog," and the lawman was smiling without any humor. "It's a shame he had to pick this town for his..."

Crotch said flatly, "We'll fight him wherever he makes his play. It's fight or else die without any chance."

"You got backbone, anyhow," the marshal admitted. "Any other man I'd slap back of bars. But I'm letting you have him. Both of you report at my office on your next stop and we'll see how this turns out."

"Only one way for it to turn," Crotch told him.

On Main Street they stumbled into Snodgrass's carolers, breaking away from their singing. The preacher had been on the point of returning to the river landing; now he paused, giving Crotch and Goss a contemptuous survey.

"Both of you saloon rowdies. You're un-Christian men!"

In his tight interpretation of scriptures there was no tolerance toward such behavior, no leniency at all to his dogmas that might gloss over drunkenness. The hair against the back of Crotch's neck began to bristle. His own philosophy more graciously decreed a man was judged solely, drunken or sober, by the good broad thinking behind his makeup, by generous juices that flowed within, causing him to live by the Golden Rule. He said angrily, "If I had my way I'd dump you in the river!"

Snodgrass stopped dead in his tracks. Affront to the cloth with him constituted a sin beyond redemption. "If I had any choice of packets I'd never consider the General Heath. Captain Jamison is a gentleman!"

A few of the carolers sided with the street preacher with whom they had been singing. Perhaps they too regretted rough talk, knowing the parson's failings, but still abiding him.

Jim Melott hurried to meet them aboard the General Heath. His face was grave as he lent a hand, and he thanked the man who had helped.

"I'll get Ben to his bunk," Crotch said quickly. "Soon as you can, deliver all the steam the boiler'll stand. We're going after Sugar Logan!"

"The safeties are ready to blow," Melott told him.

"Just two kinds of a fool," Goss replied. "Irv ought to have let the marshal put me in jail."

They put the weakened man across his bunk against his protests, and Jim Melott brought out his flat case that held his medicines, his scalpels and his dressings.

Melott's hands worked with a deft, sure quickness that labor with the boilers had not been able to rob from him. Though no one on this boat knew it—no one in this world in which he now lived and had his being knew—he had had two years of medicine in England.

Crotch opened the door and moved out to have his look over the decks. Any minute now Melott would be finished and they would get under way on the toughest race they had ever asked their steamboat to make. He ran squarely into Armond Snodgrass as he rounded the passageway. The man's sober look warned him at once of trouble.

"There seems to be a mistake," the preacher told him irritably. "A woman has No. 3 cabin. She has the door barred."

"We'll have to find you something else..."

Biggest Boost to Cattle Industry in Years...

DIETHYLSTILBESTROL

For Fattening Beef Cattle

Now Available, if desired, in

DIXIE CATTLE SUPPLEMENT "A" and DIXIE STEER FATNER

WHAT DOES THE RESEARCH SHOW?

Here's what Iowa State College Says About This New Ingredient:

- Stimulates cattle gains by 19%
- Stimulates appetite by 5%
- Produces gains with 11% less feed cost
- Cattle carcasses fully as good when Diethylstilbestrol has been used as when produced without it
- Profit margins increased $26.00 per steer; cost of gain cut two to four cents per pound!

TABLE OF RESULTS

Iowa State College, Ames, 1954

112-Day Feeding Period 8 Steers Per Lot	With Stilbestrol	Without Stilbestrol
Average daily gain, lbs.	3.06	2.23
Feed required/100 lbs. gain, air-dry basis, lbs.	756	940
Feed cost per lb. of gain	18.3¢	22.1¢
Margin per steer over feed cost	$26.00	$4.00

DIXIE ADDS THIS NOTE TO CATTLEMEN:

Diethylstilbestrol is a great—a terrific—new boon to cattlemen everywhere who are fattening cattle. There's no doubt about that. But there are these points to remember when buying rations containing this potent new growth-booster...

Diethylstilbestrol will not make a poor cattle supplement the equal of a top-quality supplement containing diethylstilbestrol. It is merely an important addition to the already high-quality of Dixie Steer Fatner and Dixie Cattle Supplement "A".

Dixie recognizes its obligation to bring to its feeders as quickly as possible the new feeding tools which research provides. But even more important than this, Dixie is always aware of its additional obligation to mix these potent new ingredients carefully and accurately so that feeders of Dixie products avoid risk and get top feed-lot performance. Ingredients are only as good as the know-how and care with which they are handled by the manufacturer.

Illinois, Minnesota Will Battle for First Place In TV Contest Saturday

CHICAGO (P) — Minnesota and Illinois were geared up today for their Saturday television battle for first place in the Big Ten basketball race with the winner apparent. The Gophers and Illinois tangle at Minneapolis Saturday in the television contest to highlight a full slate of five Big Ten matches.

Iowa will entertain Indiana in the evening. The Hawkeyes will be favored to win and either remain a half-game out of first place, should Minnesota defeat Illinois, or to share first place, should the Illini win.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON
and ED KIRKPATRICK

New favorite of the Eldorado basketball fans is Ed Lissak, 6-2½ senior playing his first year of varsity ball. Lissak has come along nicely the past month or so and reached his peak last Saturday night against Galatia. He rebounded well, played his under-the-basket shooting in a fine manner and hit 11 times in as many tries from the free throw line. Adams started replacing his starters in the fourth quarter and when Lissak left the floor the fans stood and gave him a big round of applause.

Teaming with the consistent shooting of Whittier and Clark from the outside, Lissak's under-the-basket scoring gives the Eagles a well-balanced attack.

A professional basketball double header is scheduled for the Arena in St. Louis for Feb. 23, featuring Ft. Wayne vs. Minneapolis and Boston vs. Milwaukee. Andy Phillips, former Illinois "Whiz Kid," is in the Ft. Wayne lineup, and "Easy Ed" Macaulay, former All American from St. Louis U., is with Boston. Many other top notch performers in college ranks of the last few years also will be in action.

The Harlem Globe Trotters will be in St. Louis again this spring, April 9, to meet the College All-Americans.

A book covering the Illinois High School State Basketball Finals from 1908 through 1954 will be off the presses soon. The book is being put out by Howard V. Millard, sports editor of the Herald and Review, Decatur. It is something basketball coaches, officials, fans and players will find interesting. It will sell for $1.

We are especially proud to list the winner of last week's "You Pick 'em" contest, for he is our own Bill Melton. Bill called the Friday night "upsets" and came away from the week end pickins' with the only perfect blank. "Nothing to it," says Bill, "when you're in doubt just close your eyes and draw circles."

Needless to say, Johnston City's victory over Herrin was the biggest surprise, followed closely by Ridgway's triumph over Galatia. Melton called both of these without flaw and breathed easier Sunday after Centralia squeezed past Collinsville. He was the only prognosticator to give Johnston City the nod.

Larry Owen, Harrisburg, placed second, missing only one — the J. C. Herrin outcome. We had several who tied for third. They were Lowell Vaughn, "Slick" Thompson, Ira Stille and Tim Turner, Harrisburg; Carl Miller, Route 2, Harrisburg; Hobart Ellis and John Ellis, Shawneetown, and Coach Dick Lehr, Bridgeport. All missed the J. C. Herrin game, and the Ridgway-Galatia contest save Thompson, who had Ridgway winning but missed with Rantoul.

No one was very close on the game of the week score, Carlos McSparin, Stonefort, did the best, just 11 points off the final score.

Here is another list of ten outstanding basketball games to be played this week-end for the "you pick 'em" fans. Remember, get your selections in the mail so the postmark will not be later than Thursday.

Crossville District Tourney, Feb. 24-25

District tournament games at Crossville community high school will be held Thursday and Friday, Feb. 24 and 25, it was announced yesterday. Winner of the four-team Crossville district tourney will advance to the Norris City regional.

Host school Crossville will meet Mills Prairie in the first tiff on Thursday evening, Feb. 24. Time has been set for 7 o'clock. Equality and Enfield will tangle in the second encounter.

Winners of these two Thursday games will clash for the title on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Officials for the tourney have not as yet been named.

Admission price will be 75 cents for adults, 40 cents for students.

Holly Mims is Near Victim of Shoelace Trick

NEW YORK (P) — Middleweight contender Holly Mims, an unpopular winner and a near-victim of the ancient "shoelace trick," will meet slugger Mil Savage in a return fight at St. Nicholas Arena, March 14.

Mims of Washington, D. C., third-ranking contender, was given a majority decision over unranked Savage of Salt Lake City at St. Nick's Monday night. However, all six boxing writers at the ringside voted unanimously for Savage. And the 900 fans booed the verdict.

Promoter Tex Sullivan announced today that the managers of both fighters had agreed to the return bout because of the protests that greeted the verdict after Monday night's televised ten-rounder.

A Real Lacing

Mims said, "I beat him last night. I don't know what the fuss is about. Sure, he pulled the old shoelace trick on me, and I fell for it. But the next time, I'll give him a real lacing."

It happened in the third round. Savage, scaling 160 1/2 pounds to Mims' 157 1/2, suddenly pointed with his left glove at Mims' shoe. He said, "Your shoe lace is untied." As Mims stopped and glanced down at his shoe—wham! Milo hit him on the chin with a straight right that knocked him backwards four steps. And then Savage swarmed over him in a corner.

Holly insisted today, "He didn't hurt me with that punch. I saw it coming and I was rolling backward with it." He was rolling all right—almost to the deck.

It was the first time the shoelace trick had been used on television. And it was the first time any one could remember its use in a main event since 1921, when the late Benny Leonard used it in his lightweight title defense against Richie Mitchell and knocked him out in the sixth round.

The late Kid McCoy, welterweight champion and middleweight title claimant, is credited with originating the shoe-string gag and using it often and effectively.

Savage, an underdog at 3 1/2 to 1, surprised every one by beating Mims at his own body-punching specialty in their excellent fight. The United Press had Milo winning six rounds, from the second through the seventh. He tired in the late going.

On a round basis, Referee Ray Miller favored Mims, 6-3-1. Judge Tony Rossi agreed, 5-4-1. But Judge Joe Agnello called it even. He gave each five rounds and each five points. It was a "majority" decision and not a "split" decision since no one favored Savage.

In the other TV fight Monday night at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena, welterweight Chico Vejar of Stamford, Conn., won a lopsided 10-round decision over Joey Klein of New York. Neither is ranked.

Fight Results

By United Press
BROOKLYN: Eastern Parkway—Chico Vejar, 152, Stamford, Conn., outpointed Joey Klein, 149½, New York, (10).

NEW YORK: St. Nick's — Holly Mims, 157½, Washington, D. C., outpointed Mila Savage, 160½, Salt Lake City, Utah, (10).

ROCHESTER, N. Y.: Jimmy Martinez, 149½, Glendale, Ariz., outpointed Joe Miceli, 154, New York, (10).

PROVIDENCE, R. I.: Lou Campanelli, 165, Providence, outpointed Joe Contreras, 163, Taunton, Mass., (8).

Four Games Played In Church Tourney

In church-sponsored basketball play Monday evening First Baptist won over Bankston Baptist in the senior winners' division and Presbyterian defeated McKinley Baptist in junior winners' competition.

In the losers' bracket Dorrisville Baptist won on a forfeit from Salvation Army in the senior group and in junior play Bankston Fork beat the First Methodist.

Play will continue this evening, with four games scheduled.

Shawneetown Squad To Name Queen for Game Friday Night

Varsity basketball boys at Shawneetown high will name a Queen to reign at the Rosiclare-Shawneetown game Friday night in keeping with the annual tradition. The queen will be selected from three senior girls named as candidates for the honors. They are Mary Fox, Doris Walters and June Frieles. The two senior girls not named will serve as attendants along with Carolyn Heath, junior, Jane Fox, sophomore and Deloris Smith, freshman.

Never iron elasticized portions of clothes, fabrics waterproofed with wax, rubber or other melt-able coatings.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Behind the Screen: The high content of sex in "Battle Cry," veteran director Raoul Walsh is guessing, is the reason why the U. S. Marine Corps isn't joining in the big battle-hoo for the film's openings throughout the country.

"I know that the wives of some high-ranking officers disapproved of the book," Walsh tipped it, "but we couldn't make a movie about Marines as Boy Scouts."

"It must be all the sex in the personal stories of the men in the picture that's causing trouble, but I don't think the public will see anything wrong with the film."

MGM is pondering a re-make of the Katherine Hepburn starrer, "The Philadelphia Story," for the lady from Philadelphia, Grace Kelly. Ann Southern is giving her heart-beat dancer Bill Alcorn, a career push as a straight actor. He plays the soda jerk in some upcoming "Private Secretary" telefilms.

Marilyn Monroe, it's said, is shopping for a "conservative" press agent. Maybe shopping for conservative clothes could accomplish the same thing.

MAMIE VAN DOREN (again) on talk that she's "another Marilyn Monroe":

"I'm keeping my mouth shut in cheesecake photos until they quit saying such things."

Oscar skulduggery note: The Academy protested U-I's reissue of "The Glenn Miller Story" for a one-week run to revive Oscar interest in June Allyson's performance. But nothing has been said about dropping Eva Marie Saint, leading lady in "On the Waterfront," into a supporting actress category so she would have a better chance.

Maybe Irving Berlin should have written it, "There's No Business Like Lettuce Business."

As a guest of the El Centro, Calif., chamber of commerce at the crowning of the valley's first Lettuce Festival Queen—17-year-old Betty Jo Hudson—I discovered El Centro has more Cadillacs per capita than any city in the U. S.

One big baron of the valley's $15,000,000 a year lettuce business is said to have floored his car dealer with: "Could you please, order me a Cad pick-up truck?"

Of the valley's 70,000 residents, about 60 are millionaires. One of them, Joe Maggio, rented Hollywood's big Palladium dance hall for the 500 guests he invited to his son's christening. Another, Ben Hulse, built a $150,000 home in the center of his lettuce field. There's even an elevator to the Hulse basement.

Anywhere else, a tossed green means a salad. In El Centro, a tossed green means a $1,000 bill. And they toss 'em around like lettuce.

THREE TELEFILMS will be spliced together for a theater version of "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet." . . . There's now a CinemaScope screen on the ocean liner S. S. United States. . . . Dorothy Lamour is sporting her first two-inch haircut.

Now it's Mickey Rooney in the role of a priest — for a movie titled "Twinkle in God's Eye." . . . Vera-Ellen and MGM are on thin ice. She may ask for release from her contract, claiming she's missing out on the good roles. . . . Michael Wilding just asked for and received a release from his contract at the same studio.

Richard Widmark won't follow in Burt Lancaster's footsteps for a fling at directing when he forms his independent film company. Says Dick: "I don't want to mix acting and directing. It's my long view of living. I want to leave myself open to do what I can to the limits of myself."

SHEREE NORTH, the doll who replaced Marilyn Monroe in "How to Be Very, Very Popular," was asked to serve as chairman of the refreshment committee for a party given by the PTA group of her daughter's school. "Give me another job," Sherree told the matron who asked her. "I just don't dig washing dishes when the party's over."

Phillip Crosby doesn't intend to finish college either. He told Bing: "Why should I learn chemistry when all I want to do is run a ranch?"

Theater owners have hired a public relations counsel to combat pay-as-you-see television. But the major film companies can't join in the fight because of the pending government 16 mm. suit which seeks to force the big studios to make films available to regular TV.

Science and Religion Address to Methodist Men's Group Tonight

All men of the community are being invited to the Harrisburg Methodist Men's meeting tonight at the Junior High School little theatre, at 7 o'clock, at which time a discussion on "Science and Religion" will be presented by Dr. Kenneth Van Lenter, chemistry professor at Southern Illinois University.

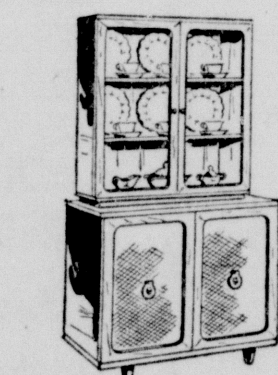

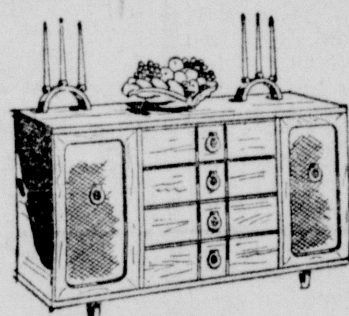

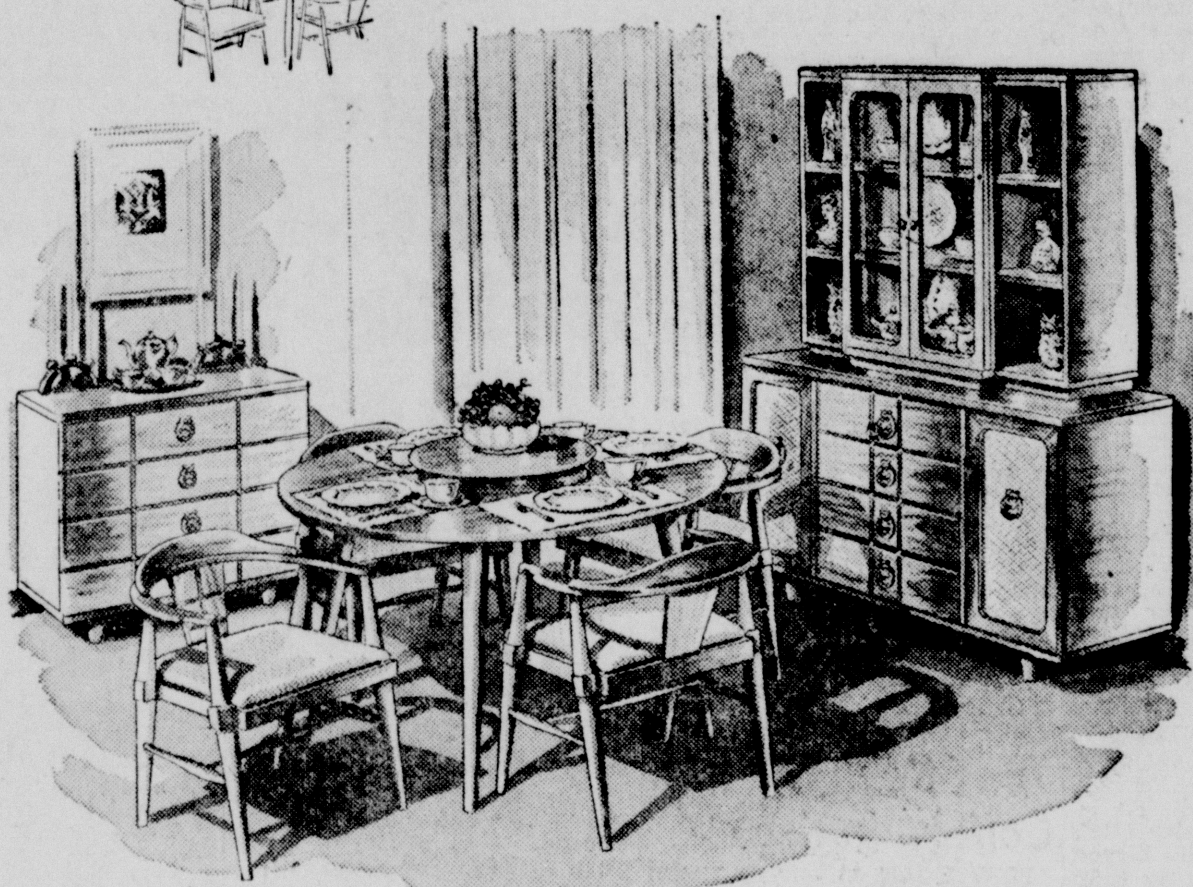

Rev. W. L. Cummins has announced that the meeting tonight will be the first in a series of informative talks to the local group, and it is hoped that several men will attend the interesting presentation.
